SEVEN DAYS NATIONAL WORKSHOP ON “RESEARCH METHODOLOGY IN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE”
(3-9th December 2024)

Language is one of the most peculiar things in that its complexity and usage are unique to humans. On the other hand, literature allows us to engage with various societies' language and culture. From the time of the origin of society, we are also interested in understanding the importance of language and literature in helping human societies advance. However, it is important to explore, learn and implement newer research methodologies that are available to us. It is also imperative for us to keep updating the research methodologies to offer world-class research insights from our own respective research across various language studies.

The following areas of research methodology will be emphasized in the proposed workshop:

- Introduction to research and research methodology.
- Levels of Research Methodology (Research Problems, Literature Review, Formulation of Hypothesis, Sampling, Data Collection, Data Analysis, Data Interpretation or Report Writing).
- Importance of theorizing and its relevance in research.
- Research Publication and Ethics (Plagiarism and Publications)
- Research tools and Techniques for Subaltern Studies.
- Methods for conducting Interdisciplinary Research.
- Epistemology and Research.
- Research proposal writing for funding
- Discourse Analysis as method in Researching Language And Literature
